

Letter of Recommendation

To Whom It May Concern:

I am pleased to write this letter of recommendation for Andres Villarreal. My name is Amit Yadav, and I serve as a Lead Business Analyst at T. Rowe Price, where I had the privilege of working closely with Andres on a variety of complex projects.

During our collaboration, Andres consistently demonstrated exceptional technical capabilities, particularly in addressing challenging back-end issues. What impressed me most was his keen attention to detail and his systematic approach to triaging problems. He has the rare ability to dive deep into technical complexities while simultaneously building a strong understanding of the business domain—a combination that made him an invaluable team member.

Beyond his technical skills, Andres proved to be an excellent colleague. He is remarkably easy to work with, displaying flexibility and adaptability in fast-paced project environments. One of his greatest strengths is his proactive communication style—he consistently surfaced potential issues early, allowing our team to address challenges before they became critical problems. This forward-thinking approach significantly contributed to our project success.

Andres would be an asset to any organization seeking a skilled, detail-oriented professional who combines technical expertise with strong business acumen and collaborative excellence. I recommend him without reservation.

Please feel free to contact me if you would like to discuss Andres's qualifications further.

Sincerely,

Amit Yadav
